DEDICATION

To the most Holy Spirit, third person of the Blessed Trinity, Bountiful Bestower of a seven-fold gift, hovering Dove of Peace:

WHOSE hallowed gift of Wisdom has been borne to the portals of Nazareth through our inspired and spirited administration;

WHOSE constant Counsel and Understanding are so admirably maintained and exemplified by a patient, beloved faculty;

WHOSE abounding Knowledge has nurtured Nazarenes until, as a senior graduating class, they are fully prepared to meet life;

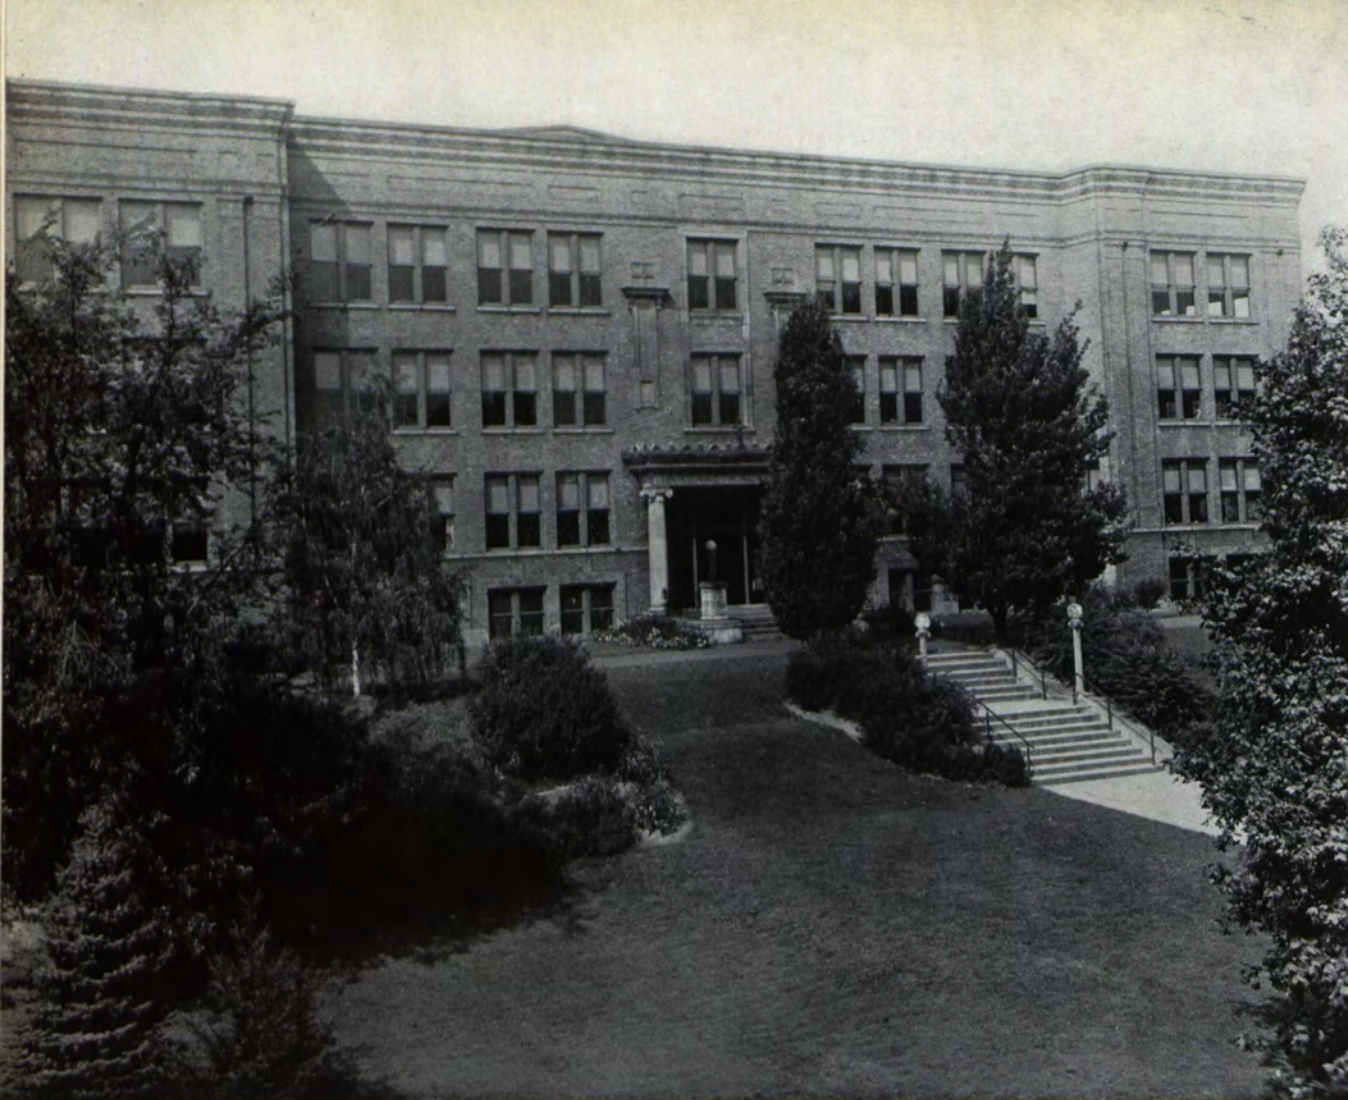

WHOSE generous Fortitude shines forth from the glowing faces of every underclassman;

WHOSE gifts of Piety and Fear of the Lord are so incorporated into our every activity that they form for us an actual theme;

WHOSE twelve fruits are a continuous flow of goodness and grace into our eager souls;

WHOSE symbolic peace has been apparently scorned by a world plunged in bloody conflict;

To this Holy Spirit, in the scarlet flame of love and the immaculate white of purity, we, the class of 1943, invoking His future protection and guidance, dedicate this 31st volume of The Lanthorn.

NAZARETH—where the Holy Spirit dwells and sanctifies a thousand girls. Outside and within, all things center around Prayer.

REVEREND JOHN M. DUFFY

REVEREND CHARLES MAHONEY

It is realized at Nazareth Academy that education is not merely a matter of academic instruction, but is dependent upon supernatural grace in the formation of true Christian womanhood.

To this end every effort is expended to set forth those noble principles which develop the spiritual and physical, intellectual and social, cultural, esthetic and moral consciousness of the students sheltered within its casements, that they may become the future leaders in religious and civic life of our community.

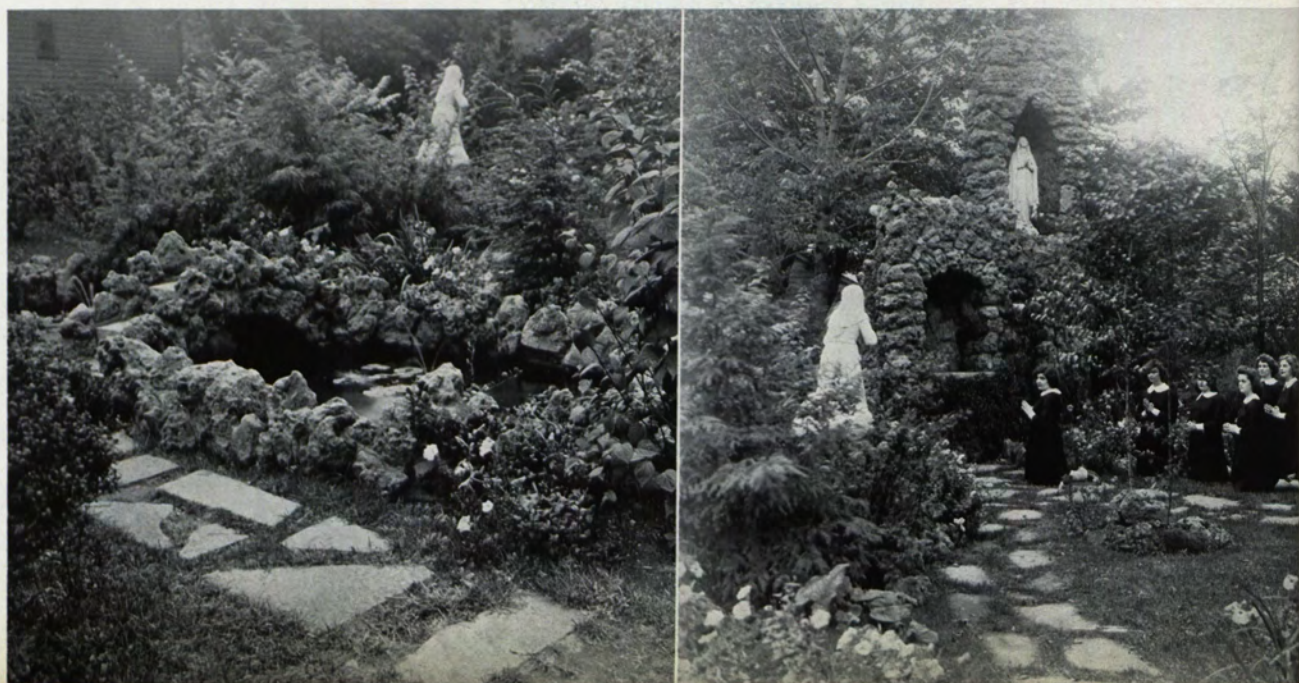

These principles, voiced by His Holiness, Pope Pius XI, are diffused throughout our entire educational system by the work of the Rev. John M. Duffy, diocesan superintendent of education and his assistant, the Rev. Charles Mahoney.

Administration

Through the Wisdom

The Bishop of Rochester, by virtue of his office, holds the first place in the administration of Nazareth Academy, and the Mother General of the diocesan Congregation of the Sisters of Saint Joseph becomes, ex officio, the president of the administration.

REVEREND MOTHER ROSE MIRIAM
President

Sister Marie Aimée, as prefect of discipline, maintains that tradition of order and obedience in cloakrooms, halls and assemblies.

★ ★ ★ GOLDEN YEARS ★ ★ ★

We, the students of Nazareth, salute you, our beloved principal, on the fiftieth anniversary of your reception into religious life.

We congratulate you in the generous use of the gifts of the Holy Ghost which you have surely received during fifty years in the service of God.

We are grateful for the wisdom of your untiring efforts to secure for Nazareth every advantage, cultural and spiritual, and to maintain the high standards of scholarship for which she has always stood.

We love you for the understanding and counsel which for three years it has been our privilege to experience and appreciate.

We pray that it may be yours to enjoy the fruits of the Holy Ghost in their fullness, and that in the golden years to come you may be blessed in the lives and accomplishments of your daughters of Nazareth.

CLASS OF '43

Our Faculty

... through whom we receive the Holy Spirit's counsel

Sister Clarissa of the Speech Department shows Sister Evelyn how to make recordings of student speeches.

Sisters Consuela, Frances Teresa, Rose Eileen, Saint Margaret, Bernardine, Marie Catherine and Christina of the English Department look over recent additions to their circulating library.

Sister Roberta, librarian, records the number of students who make use of the library shelves.

Sisters Josephine and Antonina confer over problems of the Grammar School and order in the halls.

A priest, fifty-three Sisters of Saint Joseph and three lay teachers comprise the faculty of Nazareth Academy. All day, every day, they are the channels of the Holy Ghost, counselling us in the ways that lead to wisdom and piety and fear of the Lord.

Sister Beatrice, treasurer, can be always found at her desk to take our tuition money or sell us supplies.

Sisters Agnes Gertrude and Teresa Ann are kept busy typing and filing student records.

Religion teachers all—Sisters Mary Ellen, John Mary, Anna Cecilia and Mary Mathew surrounding Sisters Saint Dorothy and Mary Lourdes, look over liturgical symbols to be taught.

Sisters Geraldine, Raymonda and Martina Marie plan uses for the new micro-projector in Science classes.

Teaching the understanding and appreciation of Latin as a language and a culture is the concern of Sisters Mary Ellen, Hilda, Marie Aimée and Callista.

The importance of social studies is recognized more today than ever before and its teachers, Sisters Miriam, Clementia, Edwardine and Anna Joseph keep busy with projects of many kinds.

The Business Department, Sisters Marie Anne, Mary Regis, Helen Concepta, William Marie, Ursula and Anacletus, examines new equipment helpful in training efficient office workers. The mimeoscope being demonstrated by Sister Mary Regis was used in making programs for the Christmas play. Sister Joan, also a member of the department, is not in the picture.

"Victory for God and Country" is largely dependent on the wise and proper use of food say the members of the Home Economics Department, Sisters Maria Gratia, Marie Anthony and Teresa Edward.

Sr. Maria Gratia

Faculty

The teachers of modern foreign languages, Sisters Anacletus, Raymondina, Grace Regina, Rosemary, Marie José and Annunciata exchange ideas gleaned from summer experiences in Quebec and Peru.

The teachers of music in its various forms, Sisters Irimina, Rose Teresa, Grace Clare and Thomas Marie collaborate on work to be done for the Music Convention in March.

Mathematics takes on added significance in a war-time curriculum and Sisters Clementia, Marie José, Pauline, Florentine and Carlina work together on ways to stress its importance to students.

Keeping physically fit is the responsibility of every citizen and every student. Miss Mary Walsh, R. N., school nurse, discusses ways and means of doing so with Miss Josephine Chase, instructor in physical education, and Mrs. Teresa Block, musicians for Gym classes.

Graduate in Music

VIRGINIA HOGAN

First Honors for attaining highest scholarship records and perfect attendance go to Dorothy Koen, Jean Kirby, Adelaide Gundell, Doris Schmitt, Margaret Hammill, Ann Ganter, Marjorie Colebeck. Second Row—Florence Hetzler, Mary Dedie, Helen Murrer, Anna Iezzoni, Florence Buttaccio, Mary Ann McGavern and Margaret DeMeyer. Absent from the picture was Marion Grosser.

New Books are inspected by Rose DiGregorio, Rita Powers, Ruth Heil, Florence O'Neill, Jean Kirby, Katherine Christoff and Margaret DeMeyer at the Library display during Book Week.

Seniors Jean Arndt, Mary Agnes Brophy, Betty Watson and Norma Laragy with Juniors Olga Voss and Gertrude Palulonis, gather around Sr. Irmina's piano to sing songs by Rita Wright and Jean Austin.

Not only do Dorothy Tiberio, Marjorie Fischer, Mary Carr, Mary Morgan, Marie Van Dierendonck and Beverly Groth cook and serve their own meals, but they also eat them.

A Year of Memory Gems

September began our year of lasts, last dashes to beat bells, munch lunches, dance in the gym, and become the school's "elite."

October swirled with the rustle of gay leaves and skirmishing hockey players. It witnessed the introduction of the "Voice of the Students" programs, and climaxed with a festive dance to celebrate Hallowe'en.

November brought the woes of first-quarter exams, resolutions to reform, the initial drive for "Lantern Ads," and the tantalizing aroma of roast turkey.

December and a "White Christmas," holiday frills, the Christmas play and formal. We splashed through rain, snow and sleet, crammed one activity after another, suffered icy toes and nipped noses, but laughed heartily every bit of the way.

January sprinkled its soft whiteness through those horror days of Regents Week. Suddenly frivolous Seniors turned solemn, books thick with dust came down from shelves for last minute reviews, sleepless eyes strained long into the night, and once again we came out on top.

February burst upon us like a summer thunderstorm and left almost as rapidly carrying along its memories of initial basketball successes and throats sore from cheering.

"In like a lion" and out like one, too, March presented the Victory Rally. Senior averages made their appearance and the green in honor of St. Patrick sent more than the Irish into a jig or reel.

With the first blade of green pushing through the sod, and the first robin soaring aloft, April sent us hurrying out for Easter bonnets. Most of us swung into a state of listless lethargy only to be aroused by the prodding of our more hopeful advisers. Retreat came to take the kinks out of our souls, and once again we came through smiling.

So here we are, whirled into May before we realized it. With the Senior Play a huge success, we find ourselves thumbing through our own beloved "Lantern" looking ahead toward commencement. A note of wistfulness fills our voices and eyes. Time is going too rapidly now, and we want to re-live all the happiness of the past year. We have been together day after day, known each others' joys and sorrows, worked and played, laughed and sighed, lived and learned—learned especially that "parting is such sweet sorrow."

The menace of banged knees did not prevent Rita Kress, Anne Harper, Jean O'Halloran, Helen Heyer, Jane Hasselwander, Ruth Costich, Jean Arndt, Betty Boehmer, Pat Maboney and Marcella Reberg from joining the Hockey Team.

Religion debates are favorite with Audrey Goodwin, Adele Carpenter, Betty Schlaffer, Marjorie McCormick, Jean Jepson and Jean Lafferty. Jean Dunning leads the discussion.

Seniors and Juniors pause between dances at the Ghost Gallop, our Hallowe'en Dance.

Fictitious characters come to life when Ann Ganter, Janet Murphy, Geraldine McMabon, Dorothy Doescher, Betty Rake and Margaret Hammill perform during Book Week.

"The Gift of Fortitude is a permanent power which the Holy Spirit communicates to our will to assist us in overcoming the difficulties which might deter us in the practice of what is right."—REV. M. MESCHLER, S. J.

In their daily routine of work and play, underclassmen endeavor to strive for the goal toward which generations of Nazareth girls have stood for. With the Gift of Fortitude strong in their hearts, the flame of the Holy Spirit lights their way to a brilliant future.

Juniors

Ingenious Juniors with a finger in every pie, pranced through a busy season of varied activities.

Agnes Brown, Alice Rutan, Lorraine Reif, Bernice Kunzer and Marie Anne Quinlan delve into our program for a better Latin-American acquaintance.

Gay posters and fine point art work decorated the halls and classrooms as Doris Incavo, Mary Tremamonde, Dorothy O'Brien, Mary Jane Sampson, Florence Pisarczyk, Joween Russi, Muriel Meyer, Eleanor Chimera and Joan Saetta diligently fashioned cubes and cones.

Careers are fostered and fashioned in the office-practice course. A bevy of "Boss's Private Secretaries" including Eleanor Boland, Mary Bonsignore, Marie Zimmer, Edith Dittman, Marie Kelly, Betty Brannan, Louise Gefell, Eleanor Frederick, and Bernardine Kraft is seen getting into the swing of things.

in Action

In further appreciation of the talents of our neighbors to the south—Janet Mallon, Mary Ann Lewis, Jean Wirley, Beverly Booth, Margaret O'Conner, June Elkins, and Claire Vroman examine some objects of Spanish Art.

Sister Miriam guides her classes through the maze of current events. When these turbulent days are world history they will be classroom memories for Rose DiSalvo, Alice Keenan, Jacqueline Miller, Margery Vaeth, Mary Therese Quigley and Doris Linfoot.

A vigorous and enthusiastic sports program was followed out with Juniors dancing in the spotlight of the basketball season, and going out for badminton and volley ball.

Pursue a "Course in Correspondence" with Rome's illustrious Cicero. The irregular Latin verbs are digested in an informal mood by Jean Deverell, Patricia Gundell, Jean Kelly, Mary Elizabeth Milne, Grace Mitrano, Catherine Foss, Jean Russell, and Nancy Ward.

Mildred Bates, Philomena Campana, Elizabeth Johnson, and Agnes Edwards model housecoats made by Concetta Rizzo, Norma Smith, Rosemary Hart and Rita Powers.

Sister Teresa Edward and Sister Magdalen Marie act as judges in testing cakes and cupcakes made by Philomena Campana, Shirley Albright, Loretta Florack (sitting), Agnes Edwards, Patricia Lang, Helen Sweeney, and Joline Hughes.

All-American girls are developed from Danish exercises as A. Clement, D. Metzger, M. Hoss, K. Beattie, M. Frederick, A. Helmbold, M. McGrady, M. Normile, J. M. Wahl, A. Pixley, (hidden) D. Casper, S. Shipton, B. Fenlon, S. Snow, and E. Yockel demonstrate under the watchful eye of Miss Chase.

Seniors Lois Erdle and Marie Lawson check health records as doctors and nurses examine the throats of Sister Hilda's girls, Margaret Hoss, Jean Kinsella, Dorothy Kolb, and Agnes Edwards.

SWINGING ALONG TOGETHER

Sophisticated Sophs swung gaily into their second year mothering the bewildered freshies and setting a new high in ingenuity.

Initiated into the Home Economics, they fashioned swish styles and concocted tasty dishes and vitamin menus.

Talent in every field was unearthed. Four Sophs helped lead the Varsity Basketball team through an exciting schedule to a triumphant city championship.

A familiar scene duplicated every time THE GABRIEL, school paper, is issued is this one in which Ellen Holland, Mary Elizabeth Mogenhan, Felicia Woloszyn and (standing) Jane McCarthy, Margaret Normile, Joan Bieber and Anne McGrath take time out during lunch hour to check on school news.

Well-balanced lunches, especially during wartime are found in the cafeteria by Anne Shanhart, Anne Brown, Jean Zapf, Helen Sweeney, Dorothy Magner, Marilyn Mogenhan and Margaret Beeman.

"Beware the Ides of March." Caesar is once more warned as Jean Innocenzi, Melvina Schmitt, Genevieve Spallina, Eileen Embury, Annette Clement, and Geraldine Fitzpatrick entertain their Latin class on March 15.

With a dramatic flourish they wrote—produced and enacted a radio script for the war effort—an old-fashioned minstrel show for the "Voice of the Students," and gleefully buried Caesar on the Ides of March.

Brains were racked over the traditional isosceles triangles and geometric formulas, the bane of Sophs, but they are emerging unharmed, ready to solve the problems that their last two years may bring.

Catherine Fallon and Joan Spindler act original script written by Bernadette Slater and Ellen Van Atta as part of a publicity campaign over WHEC to salvage silk stockings for war purposes.

Everyday scenes in the cafeteria: Sophomores Ruth Anne Healy and Olga Ferkanin mingle with Freshmen as Sister Maria Gratia keeps the line moving past the counter.

SNOW COVERS PORTALS

A YEAR OF FIRSTS

Timid at the first sight of Nazareth, self-conscious in their trim new black and white, bewildered by the throngs of upperclassmen, and curious about their future fate at school, eager freshmen, the up-and-coming class of '46 began a year of firsts.

From the clang of the first 8:30 A. M. bell, the novelty of changing classes, the hilarity of cafeteria lunches, through assemblies, to the final 3:10 bell, startled freshmen were left in wide-eyed amazement at the daily encounter of some initial experience.

Never before had many of them the privilege of visiting a Chapel within school, tinkering in laboratories, playing soccer-baseball or tumbling in the gymnasium.

So, on to their sophomore year, more alert and aware, more tolerant and understanding, proud of their first successes as a freshman class.

A lively class in gym watches J. Le Veque and L. Lark do the "flying angel," and "back bend" and hope they can do as well when their time comes.

A social studies project in manufacturing was worked out by T. Quigley, M. Frisch, T. Muratore, D. Lydon, C. Sayre, S. Ford, E. Shidlauskas, N. Millner and M. Chistolini.

Freshmen scientists find out what makes the weather, from Sister Martina Marie. They are J. Haslip, L. Winterroth, N. Amesbury, A. Adams, S. Miller, K. Hosenfeld and J. Tasketta.

Nazareth Grammar School

The seventh and eighth grades are an important section of the student body at Nazareth. The twenty-seven students in the room at the end of the first floor hall accomplish much more than their number might indicate.

They are champion ticket-sellers, whole-hearted enthusiasts of the missions and staunch supporters of school activities.

With great good will they effect the ransom of pagan babies, make scrapbooks for the missions, produce a first-rate operetta, cheer at basketball games, and threaten to defeat the freshmen at soccer-baseball. All this they do only after conquering the stubborn tricks of grammar, arithmetic and spelling.

We gaily give you our grammar school students and promise that they will soon be hearty "high-schoolers."

Sr. Josephine approves of the grammatical skill of Katherine Fleck and Mary Joan Hart at the board.

First row: Nancy Owen, Nancy Myles, Ann Hutchinson, Madelyn Iacobelli, Remigia Rauber and Jean Byrnes.

The eighth grade proudly displays certificates for ransoming six pagan babies.

Domestic and Foreign Relations

Thirty-four of the Seniors who are being graduated, leave behind in the student body, sisters to carry on the family tradition of loyalty and school spirit. Besides these the student body boasts forty-two other sets of sisters and two sets of twins.

In addition to these seventy-eight sets of sisters, Nazareth has six sets of girls who bear identical names but are not related. There are too, (but not pictured) many sets of cousins, daughters and sisters of alumnae.

A truly cosmopolitan school is Nazareth with representatives of other nations and races in her student body, and no council or league of nations is needed to keep them peaceful. Loyalty to the same high ideals is their bond of union.

Our representatives of nations and races—On stairs in descending order:

Jeannine Guillier, France; Gisela Weber, Baden-Baden, Germany; Anita Otero, Juanita Torruella and Sylvia Ward, all born in Havana, Cuba; Rose Mattheus, Ireland; L. M. Syzmore, the colored race in the United States.

"The Gift of Understanding enlightens us by shedding a clear, searching and extraordinary light on the meaning of revealed truth."

—REV. M. MESCHLER, S.J.

A practical application of the gift of understanding is shown in the activities and projects of our many clubs, which provide a wise and interesting use of leisure time through the fascinating eyes of science, languages and business.

THE MENDEL CLUB

Combining Science with pleasure in a most effective way has been the program of the Mendel Club. All students who are interested in getting a Catholic viewpoint on the study of biology have participated enthusiastically in the interesting program planned by their capable officers. During the meetings the members have made a study of nutritious meals with a view to wartime rationing. Another of their interesting projects was a lecture given by Mrs. Giustino, the mother of one of the members, on Victory Gardens.

LE CERCLE FRANÇAIS

Fostering the traditional ties of friendship for our French friends and, both instilling and furthering cultural interests in its members is the twofold aim of Le Cercle Français. Gay skits, monologues, dialogues, games, a French movie of the life of The Little Flower, and the annual French Play all helped in reaching this goal.

Girls attaining a minimum rating of 75% in their June French I examination are qualified for membership in the Club.

OFFICERS

President Alice Foley
 Vice-President Jane Marie Jones
 Secretary Ethel Bohrer
 Treasurer Nancy Ann Riggs

Left:

A scene from domestic life is enacted in French by Marion Catalano, Marjorie Martin, Doris Schmitt, Yolando Romano, and Marjorie Fischer.

THE MANTUAN CIRCLE

The Mantuan Circle takes its name from the city where Virgil passed most of his life. The club is comprised of 15 Seniors who undertake to stimulate genuine interest in Roman ancestry by studying the works of Virgil and other contemporary poets. The highlight of the year's activities is a real Roman banquet.

OFFICERS

President Marina Maccallini
 Vice-President Betty Ann Rake
 Secretary Jean Davis
 Treasurer Barbara Porter

Above:

Barbara Porter, Betty Anne Rake, Phyllis Walsh, Marilyn Mattern, Eileen Scharr, Vivian Scherer and Doris Schmitt form a Mantuan circle and scan the poetry of Virgil.

NIEUWLAND SCIENCE CLUB

To stimulate interest in the practical side of chemistry and to develop a scientific hobby have been the aims of the Nieuwland Science Club. Juniors and Seniors enrolled in the chemistry classes are qualified for membership in the club.

At their monthly meetings the members made an extensive study of "METALS VITAL FOR DEFENSE." Contact printing and enlarging in photography kept the girls long hours in the lab.

OFFICERS

President Mary Jane Allen
 Vice-President Mary Ellen Emmerick
 Secretary Janet Murphy
 Treasurer Patricia Murray

Engaged in collecting material for a wartime display are Rose DiGregorio, Ruth Hasselberg, Barbara Schlickelman, Patricia Murray, and Mary Ellen Emmerick.

GLEE CLUB

The training of singers for school functions is the purpose of the Glee Club which is open to members of the first and second year classes. Many in the club are members of the Voice Culture classes but this is not required.

An annual formal concert, numbers provided on programs of other musical organizations and occasional social meetings, besides the weekly practice comprise the activities of the Glee Club.

OFFICERS

President Jean Marie Wahl
 Vice-President Beverly Duffy
 Librarian Mildred Manion

Above:

Mary Jane Haigh at the piano gives the key to tune up to Joan Lochner, Catherine Fallon, Anne Shanhart, Bernice Kraft and (back row) Kathryn Kanka, Mildred Manion, Kathleen McDonald and Loretta Di Crisci.

THE BELLARMINE CLUB

Any American History student who has a real interest in History may become a member of the Bellarmine Club. This year the purpose of the club has been to stimulate an interest in Inter-American affairs and in present-day problems in general.

Some of the high-lights of the club were a movie of Mexico and speakers on Latin America. José Tristan and Charles Otero were two outstanding speakers.

OFFICERS

President Isabelle Keenan
Vice-President Maureen Henry
Secretary Anne Harper
Treasurer Elaine McAvoy

Above:

Norma Dentinger, Carol Baker, Myra Wahl, Genevieve Riccardo, Dorothy Housel, June Fischer, and Anita Otero listen interestedly to Anita's father, Mr. Charles Otero, after he addressed the club and showed slides of South America.

PAN AMÉRICA

Today, more than ever, North and South America are shaking hands across the border. To interest students of Spanish in the Pan-American countries, to further the good neighbor policy and to offer an opportunity for Spanish conversation, the Pan-American Club has been introduced to Nazareth. Students who attain an average of 80% in Spanish I are qualified for membership. At their Christmas meeting, Spanish Piñatas, songs, and games, played an important part of their celebration.

OFFICERS

President Helen Therese Lingl
Vice-President Bernice Kunzer
Secretary Marie Collins
Treasurer Olga Voss

Above:

DER DEUTSCHE VEREIN

All students of German who are interested in gaining an added knowledge of German culture are eligible for membership in Der Deutsche Verein. The girls have devoted their meetings this year to the study of the lives and works of famous German composers. Besides this formal program of the club, the girls have had a Christmas Party and many social activities planned for the amusement and pleasure as well as the education of the members.

OFFICERS

President Helen Karvelis
Vice-President Gisela Weber
Secretary Joan Englert
Treasurer Marian Schroedel

Left:

Christmas booklets with German songs and poems are made by Loretta Gurney, Janet Arlidge, Lillian Casper, Jeannette Petrosino, Helen Karvelis and Barbara Burns.

THE N. A. A. A.

The N. A. A. A., an organization for the promotion of athletic and recreational activity throughout the school, has made its debut this year. Although its program has been limited due to war difficulties, nevertheless, it has offered excellent opportunities for swimming, riding, bowling, basketball, hockey, softball and also soccer-baseball to those students possessing an average scholastic standing. It is with great pride that this new and entirely different club takes its place among the extra-curricular activities of Nazareth.

OFFICERS

President Eleanor Mockevicius
Vice-President Dolores Bryant
Secretary Ruth Anne Healy
Treasurer Eileen O'Neill

Right:

Cynthia Smith, chairman of the Riding Club, submits her schedule to the other officers, Dolores Bryant, Elinor Mockevicius, Eileen O'Neill and Ruth Anne Healy (seated) while Mary Alexander and Jean O'Halloran (standing) look on.

COMMERCIAL CLUB and COMMERCIAL HONOR SOCIETY

Pencils flashed and typewriters clicked when members of the Nazareth Commercial Club tried their skill for the high honors of the Nazareth Commercial Honor Society.

After passing the shorthand theory test at 90% for entrance into the Nazareth Commercial Club, honor students work to attain a speedy shorthand dictation of 100 words a minute and a gross typing speed of 40—the requirements of the coveted Honor Society. For the highest possible degree of excellence these girls have worked. We congratulate you!

OFFICERS

President Betty Mason
Secretary June Healy
Treasurer June Fischer

Below:

Practicing for Commercial Honor Society tests are Norma Dentinger, Margaret Frank, June Fischer, Louise Zimarino, Dorothy Kupski, Marjorie Colebeck, Virginia Dominiak, Betty Cassick and Johanna DiLella.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Style shows, teas, parties, and one-act plays centered upon home life, have constituted the activities of the Home Economics Club. These activities have given beneficial knowledge and aid regarding home life and home duties to those students of the sewing, cooking, and home-management classes. Although it is yet a small club, nevertheless it has proved a success and a pleasure.

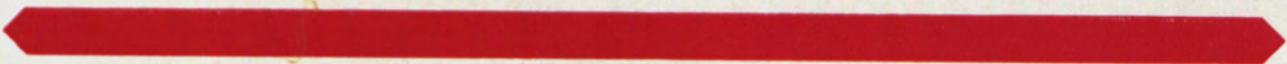

OFFICERS

President Aileen O'Dea
Vice-President Helen McDonald
Secretary Betty Pearson
Treasurer Shirley Tirpaek

"The Gift of Piety awakens in our souls an inclination and readiness to glorify God as our Father and to have a filial confidence in Him.

"The Gift of Holy Fear of God is actually the foundation of all other gifts. It drives sin from the heart because it fills us with reverence either for the justice of God or for the divine majesty."—REV. M. MESCHLER, S. J.

The entire student body and faculty unite in their activities under the guidance of the Holy Spirit. Participating in a varied program of spiritual and social functions including the sodality, plays, dances, and concerts, they strive to glorify and reverence God.

The Nazareth Regiment

This year's Sodality began when its officers attended the Summer School of Catholic Action at Fordham University, the traditional planting-place of ideas and programs. That they reaped a fine harvest was evidenced when the Sodality swung into action at the opening of school. Soon plays, tableaux, and quizzes, small and large, were presented to explain and portray the duties of a Sodalist. Volunteers were found to work at the Charles Settlement House, drives raised money for the Mission and soldiers' scapulars, and a highly successful Harvest Festival was held, to lift crusading efforts over the top.

On a never-to-be-forgotten list are the swishing Christmas Dance, the fun of the excursion to the Buffalo convention, and the assembly meeting where the officers portrayed various religious orders.

To complete a remembrance of the Sodality year are memories of First Fridays, a wonderful retreat, a hustling Mission Day, and a crowning May Day.

A practical application of Piety and a cultivation of Fear of the Lord are the full-time projects and lasting benefits of the Sodality.

Sodality officers pose by the grotto at the beginning of the year. Miss Willmann is welcomed by the prefect and active workers of the parish contact committee.

The Mission Crusade reception was a colorful spectacle. The Sodality book exhibit during February stressed the Four Freedoms.

Supervising recreational activities at the Charles Settlement House is a phase of Catholic Action.

Bishop Kearney, Rev. Benedict J. Dudley, O.F.M., retreat master, and Father O'Connell listen to enthusiastic comments at the close of retreat.

There Is A War

"Nazareth Academy is requested to present a pageant at the Victory Rally staged March 6 at the Eastman Theatre."

With six brief weeks to originate, prepare, practice and produce, the call for talent echoed through the school. Frantic heads whirled into aches; lengthy pencils whittled down to stubs; note books dwindled into lean leaflets; waste baskets overflowed; script piled; typewriters tapped; mimeographs clicked; and suddenly—there it was—an original pageant, "Freedom's Holy Light," based on President Roosevelt's four freedoms, and including vocal and choral groups and tableaux.

Long nights of practice followed—precision practiced by vocal choirs; tuning and trilling blended harmoniously; needles, pins and sewing machines hummed into action; costumes fitted; staging completed; lights arranged; and last-minute details completed.

A huge success, colorful, musical and breath-taking on the Eastman stage—Nazareth Academy had scored again.

Upper page. The breath-taking finale of "Freedom's Holy Light" drew the colorful pageant to a brilliant climax.

Circle. A closer view of the finale, with Columbia and the Four Freedoms standing resolute, serene and purposeful.

Lower Left. Home Economics seamstresses stitch and pin furiously to fill the rush order for the costumes of the Speech Choir.

Lower Right. Seniors, newly turned script-writers, collaborated on the pageant with ideas tossed back and forth in excited Speech Room conferences. The finished script was the work of Helen Murrer, Jane Moak, Alyce Madden and Maureen Henry.

Upper Circle, Victory Corps leaders Sister Marie Anne, Shirley Hall, Alice Toole, Sister Martina Marie, Sister Grace Regina, Barbara Christoph, Ruth Heil and Sister Mary Regis are in important conference.

Lower Circle, Persuasive War Bond and Stamp salesmen Jean Clark, Virginia Howell, Ann Shanbart, Betty Ann Rake and Margaret Friend report their progress to Sister Bernardine.

Lower Left, "Oops—Careful now!", cautions Sister Clementia as First Aiders Patricia Jewell, Geraldine Gaffney, Jean Vinci, Jane Ward, Nancy Owen, Lois Winterroth and Anna Roeger practice on Madalyn Jacobelli.

Lower Right, As Mary Mills, Catherine Popwicz, Grace Dimino, Katherine Schirmer, Marjorie Sullivan and Virginia Dominiak knit and sew under sister Mary Lourdes' direction, Mrs. Driver and Evelyn take command of the sewing machines.

Nazareth Knows

At the thunder of the guns at Pearl Harbor, reverberations rocked a world already reeling with distress. Everywhere on the continent people were stirred to meaningful activity. Here at Nazareth a Victory Corps was formed, a miniature, determined, working army without furloughs, where the Master Sergeant was a militant conscience, and the guard house an unfrequented doghouse, occupied when a week's reports were not up to par.

In this Army, flashing needles, snapping scissors, and buzzing sewing machines work over Red Cross garments while heads are bowed, rosaries whispered, pages turned in prayer for victory and just and lasting peace. Home Nursing and First Aid classes are the scenes for crumpled ribs, tautened bed clothes, antidotes and remedies. Zealous salvagers loot attics, scour closets, canvass cabinets, scavage cellars in search of vital materials.

Nazareth Victory Corps members know their deeds will not win them Purple Hearts for gallantry in action, but that they will help things to run more smoothly at home.

Right. Haughty Herod (Ruth Barry) receives the sword of Simeon, his messenger (Mary Agnes Brophy) who transfers his allegiance to the New Christ, as guards (Marion Heffer and Margaret Schoepfl) stand at attention.

Center. Authors, Dolores Bennett and Rita Bettner, smile in the success of their production.

Below. Leah, the innkeeper's wife, (Alice Normile) preens in her lovely new gift before the dancer (Fawn Scheffel).

Lower left. Poor Jason, the chore boy, (Betty Schiller) whispers to Jeriah, a seer (Jane Hasselwander) his faith in the Redeemer.

Lower right. Angels (Evelyn Driver, Alyce Madden, Marjorie Quinn, Jean Austin, Kathryn Fetzner, Jean Arndt, Sheila Hanley and Mary Kelly) become beatific with their halos as they sing the hymns in praise of the newborn king.

Center. Climax of the play comes at the scene of the nativity where (Eileen Spillane) plays the part of our Blessed Mother and (Rita Wright) is a convincing Joseph.

Below. Azar, the innkeeper, (Marina Maccallini) is unwilling to part with gold to the Jewish merchant (Margaret Frank) even for a beautiful gift for his wife.

Bottom. In a prologue, the speech choir created an atmosphere of reverence and expectancy by the choric recitation of excerpts of poetic prophecies of Christ's coming. Below are pictured Elsie Dangler, Marjorie Esterheld, Cecilia Slowe, Jane Marie Jones, Rosemary Heilman, Agnes Meyering, Joan Hayes, Jean Kelly, Geraldine Heintz and Hildegard Heinrich.

From the moment the curtains swung apart upon the Christmas Play of '42, it took no prophet to predict, nor wise man to proclaim, that here was a success. Here was the indefinable aura of a masterly production in the air, which made an already interested audience perk up and take notice. As the plot unfolded, it waxed enthusiastic, for the ever-absorbing story of the birth of Christ was being set forth in an unusually telling manner, and, what was more pertinent, was the creation of two Nazareth seniors. Everything, from props to grease paint, was the smooth result of diligent effort and hard work; and they who trod the boards that night won deserved admiration of their talent and versatility.

Christmas Belles...

Gay to the last dance—were juniors Jane Marie Jones and Patricia Gundell and escorts.

Sophomores Rose Marie O'Brien and Clare Darby and escorts pause by the festive Christmas Tree.

Eunice Vay '42, Edna Gessner '42, Marie Fischer '40 and Jeanne Barker '42, alumnae sodalists with their escorts, return to Nazareth for the fun.

Snow, wind, and frozen engines couldn't keep Betty Reid, Anne Harper, Betty Ann Rake, Alice Foley and their escorts away from "the big dance."

Patricia Cahill, sophomore, is loyal to the Army.

and Holiday Beaux

Intermission found Seniors Maureen Henry, Georgia Wellman, Patricia Culhane, Isabel Keenan and escorts chatting on the stairway.

The Navy is represented by Betty Reid and escort.

Stopping long enough to pose were sophomores Eileen Tuite, Doris Metzger, Therese Russer; below Juniors Betty Schiller and Maureen Langton with escorts.

Alumnae Marie Lingl '41, Marion Hart '42, Claire Russer '42, Mary Frances Blind '40 keep up the Nazareth tradition of loyalty to school functions.

CHRISTMAS DANCE

On December 30 the Sodalists and their escorts who braved a blizzard for an evening of dancing to Freddie Grossman's orchestra, found Nazareth's gym gay and glamorous in tinsel and Christmas tree lights.

They saw satins and sequins flash a contrast to the Navy blue and khaki uniforms that lent a patriotic touch to a gala evening. They noted too the shrine to Mary holding a prominent place and lending a touch of motherly solicitude for the happiness of her children.

During the evening they tripped gaily or glided gracefully as the music changed from "swing" to waltz and back again.

Just after the above picture was taken they started home but had first to coax frozen engines, dig cars out of snowbanks, or failing this, had to resort to taxis and buses. A few had to signal distress to the home front to bring some one of the family out after them.

Until another Christmas brings another dance, they have only these memories and these pictures.

NAZARETH NOTE-ABLES

When it's the frosting on a cake, the completion of a creation, the polish of a production—it's the Perosian Choir. For the choir is the happy blending of talent, application and adaptability, a combination sure to bring the magic touch that has charmed admiring audiences from Nazareth to the Eastman or the Masonic Temple.

Inquisitive bodies, upon hearing sundry snatches of "oo's" and "ya ha's" wafting forth from the Music Room, have discovered that the finished renditions of "Ave Marias" and patriotic ballads were first preceded by experimental laboratory work. The chief scientist, Sister Irmina, has developed something unique in the Perosian Choir, authors of shimmering sound.

Final Curtain

"To Valor Given"—

A stirring war drama of intrigue, misunderstanding and sacrifice was the vehicle for the farewell dramatic performance of the class of '43.

Written by Rita Bettner, '43, the script presented Francine Forbes, a brilliant young concert pianist, caught in the vortex of war after the bombing of Pearl Harbor.

The combined hard work of director, cast, stage crew and business staff made the undertaking of an original production one to be long remembered.

Scenery grows under the skill of the backstage crew Marie Van Dierendonck, Yolanda Romano, Marina Maccallini and Maureen Henry (back to camera).

Reporters Miss Evans and Miss Falene get an interview from Francine, home with Monnie, after her harrowing experiences overseas with the A.W.C.

The announcement that changed the lives of everybody in the play—Emily tearfully rushes backstage after Francine's successful concert and blurts out to Mrs. Forbes, Francine and Monnie Connors, the stunning news that Pearl Harbor has just been bombed.

CAST

MARIE	Jean King	MRS. MARTIN, in command	Jane Hasselwander
EMILY	Mary Abby Lane	LOCKMAN, secretary	Mary Jane Allen
FRANCINE FORBES, concert pianist	Rita Bettner	DOCTOR	James Grimm
MRS. FORBES, mother of Francine	Clare Kane	SOLDIER	Edward Scharr

WANDY	Kathleen Temmerman
DOROTHY	Jeanette Farrell
KAY	Elsie Dangler
MARION	Margaret Hammill

Lockman, A.W.C. secretary, brings an important communique to the commanding officer, Mrs. Martin.

Emily wonders what it must be like to be famous while Marie is amused at Emily's romantic imaginings.

Maxine reveals her reasons in no uncertain terms for her distrust and dislike of the disguised pianist.

LANTHORN STAFF

Cries of "bleed those pictures" and "layout on two plates" plunged our novice staff into a strange new world centered about the little room at the corner of the new wing.

We went from the psychological to the poetic doing Senior writeups and other "copy." The cries of "does Peg remind you of sunrise?" and "could you call Eugenia elusive?" were answered in flurries of ambitious decisions.

This "Lanthorn" was to be new-modern-appealing—the best ever! We planned campaigns—grubbed for ads and haunted the halls for subscriptions. We had days of placid pride over our labors and weeks of furious cramming over our deficiencies. We pleaded and cajoled our patron, the Holy Spirit, the theme of our book, for aid.

Fortitude, patience and plenty of faith emerged between gleaming white covers lettered in scarlet ink. It's a little of everything that four years of Nazareth has meant—quarterlies, Christmas formal, war work, the Missions, favorite nooks, the "barn," the glass house.

This 1943 Lanthorn is our pride and joy—your keepsake.

Five-Star Final

"Here stick a headline on this"—"Oh! the smell of that glue!"—"Use a three column head"—"Hurry! these have to be at the printer's by noon!"

To the ordinary passerby it might seem as if inside the immortal walls of our own "press" room a small cyclone was in progress. But when enlightened they would know that the staff was only trying to meet a deadline.

It is the duty of a newspaper, in the words of the New York Times, to print "All the news that's fit to print." The Gabriel has attempted to do just that by publishing everything from fashion columns to humble attempts at humor.

Published monthly, it has kept student reporters "on the jump for scoops." Interviewing such notables as Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt, First Lady extraordinary, Artur Rubinstein, world famous concert pianist, Argentinita, acclaimed Spanish dancer, and Dorothy Maynor, Negro soprano has given the reporters poise and experience. Insight into journalistic problems has come from covering school events, proof-reading galleys, and laying out dummies.

Although it may be said that we are prejudiced it is honestly felt that the "Gabriel" is a noteworthy contender for the current list of "Best Sellers."

Meeting the deadline for THE GABRIEL are typists Ruth McNamara, Dorothy Kupski, Anna Iezzoni and staff writers Jane Hasselwander, Helen Anne McCarthy, Myra Wabl and Marjorie McCormick.

Assignments of Mildred Fischer and Geraldine Gilligan are checked by Mary Jane Sampson, Laura Skakuj and Rosanne Fisher, while Anna Zimarino and Virginia Dominiak check mistakes on typed copy.

Mildred Fischer, Marion Heffer, Mary Maloy, Helen Anne McCarthy and Marjorie Esterfeld cut galleys and paste up the "dummy."

Sometimes V's for Victory; sometimes for Varsity; frequently for Vim and Vigor. Our V stands for all of them—vim and vigor combined in a varsity that brings us victory!

In games that exhibited fast footwork, spectacular passing and commendable team spirit, this varsity, with only Gerry McMahon from last year's team, breezed through a stiff schedule of eleven games, winning all but three. One of these was lost to our own Alumnae, one to Mercy High, and one tied with Sacred Heart.

Graduation will take Geraldine McMahan, Jean O'Halloran, Elinor Mockevicius, Rosemary Bell, Rita Powers, and guards Eileen O'Neill, Ruth Costich, Helen Heyer, Betty Boehmer.

OUR ADVERTISERS

With protecting wings, the Holy Spirit hovers above Nazareth Academy, its watchful care supervising the work of the Lanthorn. Under the Surveillance of the Holy Spirit, the apparently impossible became a reality through the kindness of so many of Nazareth's benefactors and patrons. Only a small particle of the matchless Understanding of the Holy Spirit is needed to realize how great is our gratitude to these men and women whose generous patronage has made our book possible.
